CORR TO BROADCAST LIVE IN HIGH DEFINITION FOR 2008 RACING SEASON

Newport Beach, CA (Friday 11, 2008)—Championship Off Road Racing (CORR) is back bringing short course racing to the next level with exciting additions to the already commanding TV coverage. New in 2008 CORR comes to you LIVE in High Definition.

Broadcasting on both NBC and SPEED in high-def, you'll feel closer to the action, and see fender to fender racing like never before. Plus see the drama as it unfolds when CORR goes LIVE for 3 races of the season on national television. Catch races live from Chula Vista and Las Vegas. Also, you won't want to miss the season finale as CORR brings you the Jason Baldwin Memorial Cup Race as it happens.

Join commentators Bill Weber, Wally Dallenbach, Marty Snider, Kelli Stavast and Ken Stout as they bring you the excitement of Championship Off Road Racing with an expanded NBC schedule including nine-90 minute shows; making a total of 13.5 hours on the national network.

Racing will include 8 events from locations including the action packed track of Chula Vista International Raceway and the highly successful LA Fairplex in Pomona. In addition, CORR is pleased to announce that a five-year contract is being signed with the LA Fairplex in Pomona that includes three weekends of racing each year. CORR will construct a first class race track once a year at the venue.

The 2008 season will begin on April 26th and 27th at the LA Fairplex in Pomona the site of Championship Off Road Racing's first sold out crowd in 2007. The grounds of the season finale battles will be at Chula Vista International Raceway on December 6th and 7th.
