

I installed oil lines and filters on the driver's side of the engine to keep them away from the hot side close to manifold and turbo. I installed my remote by-pass system as instructed but used steel re-enforced oil lines and got a whine from the oil pump. I uninstalled the system and reinstalled my factory oil filter. I ran a line from the top of the factory filter mount to the remote unit on the frame. I then ran the return line to the engine oil fill cap. I now use three oil filters.
